

aiming high

Imagining vertical parks would give the city the nature it needs.

The congested city of the future will have less and less space available for park and green areas.
We will need to develop a new language of green spaces.
We will need vertical parks.
We will need green skyscrapers

4 km of ramp will guide you up to the top
25000 sqm of public park will make feel you out of the city
Infinite views will make look at the city in a different way

#05

Multilevel parking

call for ideas 2018